What Makes Us Different

We were born from Harrison Gypsum Company 12 years ago with the sole purpose of providing reliable transportation and distribution services in and out of Harrison's mines. Since our inception, we managed the entire supply chain for our sister companies, delivering raw materials to numerous manufacturing facilities across North America.

Today, we provide the same Single Source Management solutions to our external clients as well, offering complete management of their entire supply chain. Whether shipping materials and equipment into mines on flatbed trailers, or moving materials and products to manufacturing facilities by rail, we offer closed-loop supply chain distribution services to our partners, sister companies and external clients throughout North America.

So whether you need to move one, or multiple shipments, by any mode, to anywhere in North America, you can count on us and our network of trusted transportation providers to get the job done right, every time.

Our Commitment

We are committed to open communication, honesty and integrity. Our clients benefit from one point of contact, 24/7 communication and experienced-based recommendations to make the most out of their supply chain.

We strive to be THE internal transportation department for our clients who utilize us as a resource and trusted partner who will recommend solutions and develop strategies for all their supply chain needs.

Our bonds with our clients are only matched by the deep relationships we have with our network of trusted truck, rail, air, and ocean carriers. Both our clients and our transportation providers are confident we will provide them with one crucial tool: communication.
